

CASH FAQs

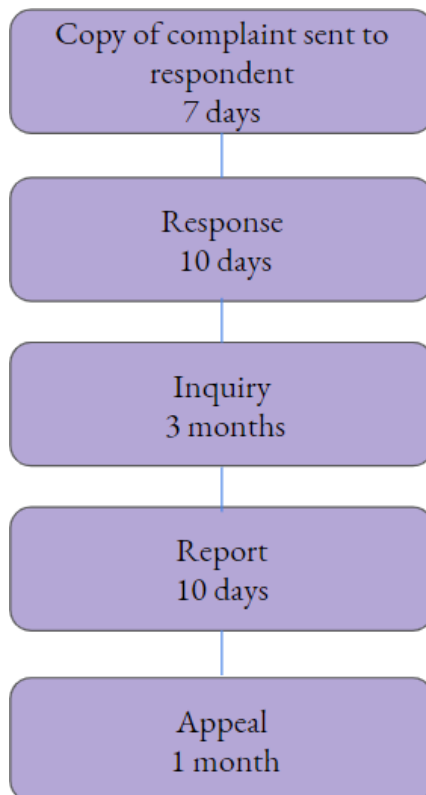

1. What is the procedure for filing a CASH case?

- To file a case, you need to send an email to cash@ashoka.edu.in with all relevant details regarding the incident(s) of sexual harassment along with the name of the accused, any witnesses present, the dates of the incident(s) that you remember, etc. or submit it in writing to the CASH Chair.
- Friends, relatives, colleagues, co-students, psychologists, or any other associate of the victim may file the complaint in situations where the aggrieved person is unable to make a complaint on account of physical or mental incapacity or death.
- CASH Support Group can be approached (not a necessary condition) before filing a complaint to CASH in case the complainant wants to seek clarifications about how to draft a complaint, the procedure or the case in general. The accused too can approach CASH support for the same.

2. What happens after I file a case?/What is the timeline of the process?

- Once a case has been filed, the committee begins its assessment of the same. First, the committee forwards the verbatim complaint to the respondent within a period of 7 days. The respondent is given a maximum of 10 days to respond to the complaint.
- Once the committee has both the complaint and the response, it has a total of 3 months to deliberate upon the case, which includes calling both the complainant and the respondent to give their testimonies in person and to add on any information that was left out. Further, this serves as an opportunity for the committee to question both the parties on their individual accounts of the incident.
- If any witnesses are involved, they are also called in by the committee to provide their testimony and answer questions regarding the incident.

- Once the committee completes its deliberation and reaches a verdict, it releases a report within a period of 10 days after the inquiry. The verdict is sent to both the complainant and the respondent, as well as the Vice-Chancellor. Both parties have upto a period of 1 month to appeal the verdict decided by the committee. The appeal is considered by the vice-chancellor thereafter.

- The Support Group is a body constituted to meet both complainants and respondents in an informal manner and give clarifications or advice on the course of action open to them in matters pertaining to sexual harassment. The members are familiar with ICC guidelines and hence are a good resource to approach in case of queries regarding the CASH process, as well as in the event one merely wishes to talk about the incident and potential steps forward.
- The support group may also provide clarification/advice on how a complaint should be drafted i.e. including the relevant information/proof etc. Alternatively, even the defendant can approach the support group to seek help with drafting their response. Note, the complaint/response has to be written by the respective parties themselves, the support group will simply provide guidance.
- The Support Group is made up of faculty members, senior employees involved in the Office of Student Life, Young India Fellowship, and the Director, Ashoka Centre for Well Being.

11. Will I be penalised for the fact that substances were involved when the incident of sexual harassment took place?

- No, the committee does not take punitive action against individuals on the basis of substance abuse. Further, since CASH and CADI are independent bodies, the committee will not share details of such information with them, or any other body on campus. Hence, involvement of substances should in no way discourage students from filing to CASH. In fact, it is incredibly important to mention the presence of substances if they were involved during the incident as consent obtained under the influence of substances does not qualify as valid consent.

12. Is it possible for me to withdraw my CASH complaint in the middle of the proceedings?

- It is desirable that the student takes a considered decision that she/he will go through the entire process. Withdrawing complaints is allowed but usually, this only happens when there is some kind of mediation between the complainant and the respondent.

13. What if I want to file a complaint post six months from the last incident?

- The ICC cannot take up cases that date beyond six months, hence, will not be able to carry out an enquiry as they normally do. In such cases, depending on a case-by-case basis, the committee may bring the complaint to the notice of the administration for appropriate action.

14. Can someone file a complaint on my behalf if I do not consent to it?

- As mentioned, a complaint can only be filed on the behalf of a person in case they're unable to do so owing to mental and/or physical incapacity. However, if the complainant actively does not consent to filing a complaint, it will not be taken forward by CASH, regardless of anyone else filing it.

15. Can I discuss the incident of sexual harassment or the proceedings of the case?

- One can only discuss matters pertaining to the incident prior to filing an official complaint with CASH. Once a case is filed, the incident becomes confidential and Hence, both the defendant and complainant can discuss the case with support group members. Once the verdict is out, only the complainant has the right to talk about the case, but the committee still encourages the parties involved to keep the proceedings of the case confidential.
